New track by MAVS: "Kill Norman Osberger"

If you enjoyed our first game's soundtrack, you'll be pleased to hear that Makeup And Vanity Set is back for Brigador Killers. Here's the first track for the new game, "Kill Norman Osberger".

Keep your ears and eyes peeled for more tracks by MAVS in future newsletters. Much like with Brigador Vol. I and II, MAVS is also planning a physical vinyl release.

When Stellar Jockeys Went to PAX West 2019

All four of the Stellar Jockeys crew went to the Seattle to demo Brigador Killers and show off our new merch. Our booth was up on level 6, and we had three demo stations set up. Each day kicked off at about 08:30, when we'd set out from our hotel a few minutes walk away, and we'd finish around 18:00 when PAX's enforcers cleared out the exhibition halls.

Karl was our principal photographer and merchandise king, Jack would take curious fans on a tour of the Brigador engine's lighting system, Hugh entertained younger booth visitors by turning off cooldowns for absolute mayhem and Benjamin made sure everyone on the team was properly fed. Comic artist Simon Roy was also in attendance, and on the Saturday, we all went to a nearby bar on Capitol Hill for a fan meetup.

Karl took several photos from all four days of PAX West, and you can check them out in this imgur album.

neck t-shirt. Also coming soon are the PAX West Precursor James pins.

Brigador on sale on Steam

We're currently running a week-long sale of Brigador: Up-Armored Edition. You can get up to 40% off the game on Steam until September 30th.

Updating to macOS Catalina? Please read!

With the upcoming macOS Catalina update, any 32-bit applications on your Mac will stop working (read this macrumors.com article for more details and what you can do). As of time of writing, Brigador: Up-Armored Edition falls under the unsupported 32-bit category, but we hope to address this issue soon. It's worth pointing out that this won't be limited to just Brigador, as many other older games will be affected, so please be mindful of updating your macOS.

Community Spotlight

The community has continued its FMOD adventures. Many thanks to Metamoth741 for this take on the opening mission of Awake On Foreign Shores.

In addition, community member Noyemi put up a great chiptune tribute to Brigador's soundtrack on their sound cloud. Click here to give it a listen. Makeup and Vanity Set did, and he approves.

This is just a quick glance at what our community got up to in September. You can join in on the modding fun by checking out our #maps-and-modding channel on our Discord server.
