

STELLAR JOCKEYS NOVEMBER NEWSLETTER

Welcome to your Stellar Jockeys newsletter for November 2025. This month we're looking at the narrative tools in Brigador Killers.

BK Dev: Narrative & scripting tools

The video above won't make much sense on its own. Fortunately, we have a devlog waiting for you to read that will explain what's going on.

ATTN (again): UK, EU & Schengen Area

Repeating what we said last month: Stellar Jockeys is one step closer to reopening merchandise sales to not only the UK, but also offering better shipping rates to countries in the EU and Schengen area. However, before we do that, we would like to get a better idea of how much stock we ought to send. If you live in the United Kingdom, the European Union or the Schengen area, and you would like to buy physical merchandise from our store, please fill out this brief survey.

Take survey

This survey will take responses until midnight December 31st 2025, after which we will post results in the #survey-results channel of our Discord server. Also, as a small teaser, we have new model packs coming to the store in the near future. Here's one of them assembled and painted from the workshop - can you tell what model it is?

TYPE: HEAVY MECH

REMARKS

...Despite how long mechs have played an active role in combat and police work, there's a segment of the Brass that still argues against them hard. They're "walking targets" that are "too expensive to maintain" and "damage roads and infrastructure because they don't broadly distribute their weight." Ok maybe some of that's true, but bureaucrats don't know what a psych-out it is to get stared down by a heavy. Gets you that fear deep in your reptile brain, sympathetic nervous system response. Also the part that worries about money.

FEDERAL STATES-ARMY - DREKFORT M.D.C.

Every year, General Bursov tries to get the Touro mothballed and every year he gets laughed out of the War Council. The Touro's combat legacy is completely justified. Maintenance gets a bit messy with the successive upgrades to the combat jack and fire control systems on these things but the chassis lasts forever, which is usually what the NEP is worried about. Only thing that wears out on this classic legs unit are the shoe pads.

In other words, believe the stories about noite das pedras chorosas.

...and Junnti added Norman Osberger to the 1890 Johannes Helder oil painting "Man with a silver pistol" because that's the sort of thing that ends up in #becks_best.

The history of the Stellar Jockeys community gallery stretches all the way back to 2018 and can be browsed on our Discord server.
